Love Is Round:
Installation of Light & Shadow
Selected works by Brush & Reed founder, Jena Argenta.

Gestures of ink, cut paper & sculpted light re-imagine "illuminated manuscripts" in the form of asemic love letters, recycled family histories, tapestries, and inspired calligraphic practices from various global traditions.

These are not select works as much as they are love letters—invitations to a season of Winter offerings. Workshops timed not with the external frenzy of the season, but with its introspective call to pull to the roots – as the trees ask us to do – of oneself, of one's relations with others. It is an invitation to draw near and light the candles.
